care to say what your testimony was ?"

"Oh, yes, he compliments me," remarked the inspector, with a significant smile.

"Well, fet Mr. Faber tell what I said to the Grand Jury; he has told the rest."

"Mr. Taber declares that many witnesses called before the Grand Jury were so intimidated and in fear of bodily harm at the hands of the police that they dare not testify against the latter. Have you anything to say about that?" queried the reporter.

"Only what I have already said. I think my first answer covers that," was the reply. Inspector Byrnes confirmed the report that he had issued a special order to all police captains to report daily the number of disorderly houses and gambling places in their precincts, how long they have been running and the number of limmates, and added:

"During the short time that I may be called to act as Superintendent of the Department I shall see that the law is rairly and impartisally enforced and that violators of the law are punished.

"I have no favorites. I shall hold the Captains and lisspectors accountable for any violations of the law in their respective commands and districts, and I shall place the responsibility for the same where it belongs."

When Inspector Williams was questioned regarding Mr. Taber's statements he said:

"I pay no more attention to such charges than I would to the cackling of a goose. It's the veriest nonsense.

"If Mr. Taber is in possession of such startling evidence let him go absed and "If Mr. Taber is in possession of such startling evidence let him go ahead and indict somebody.

"Hast. Abor is in possession of such startling evidence let him go abead and indict somebody.

"So far as police intimidation is concerned, any man's lite—even Mr. Taber s—is perfectly safe in New York so long as he behaves himself and don't poke his hose into other people's business. Such talk is all bosh."

Baid Inspector Steers: "All I've got to say is this: I haven't got any of that $7,000,000 or $10,000,000 or whatever it is."

Considerable interest is being manifested in the praceptings of the present Grand Jury, which beggn its sittings yesterday, with Charles H. Isham, of 123 East Thirty-seventh street, as foreman.

Foreman Taber, of the March Grand Jury, has written a letter to District - Attorney Nicoll, exonerating Police Court Clerk Perley from the charge of warning Gambler "Dink" Davis that he was to be arrested.

Col. Perley, however, saya this is not enough. He want last week's present ment

The husband charged that his wife had been the deverything, washes, &c., but no medicine the limate with John Bender, a nephew and did any good. Then mother urged me to try former employer, who lived in his house. Bender was a witness for Leopold and admitted having sustained improper relations with Mrs. Leopold until her husband found it out and discharged him. Bender says he used to visit Mrs. Leopold after this in her tinued taking Hood's Sarsaparilla the improvehusband's absence, and he showed the utmost Andictiveness against the woman. Richard Miller, another employee, testined gether, but had seen mothing out of the way in tueir actions.

Mrs.-Leopoid, an attractive and dignined woman of thirty, took the stand and denied werry alteration, and declared that Bender was a drunken brute with whom she had mover had anything to do.

Judge Truax dismissed the complaint, remarking that he could not believe the testimony of such a man as Bender, which was the vilest he had ever heard.

ex-Director W. A. Conkiin.

William Shyder, a keeper, recalled, swore that a deer presented to the city by the old Men's Home, of Riverside, in December, 1890, was shipped to Hamburg by Mr. Conkiin. This is an additional charge against the ex-Director.

Keeper Holmes corroborated the statements of Shyder, adding that Walter Myers, alias Bannister, who was in Mrs. Conklin's employ, took the animal away.

Edward Scannell, a laborer at the park, said he weighted all the hay and feed for the park police horses, but he was not allowed to weigh the forage for the animals.

He made an inventory of the animals every six months. He empared his list with Mr. Conklin's, and when there was a shortage Mr. Conkin's, and when there was a shortage Mr. Conkin generally accounted for the animal by saying that it was dead.

August Schmitt gave further testimony as to the destruction of plants by order of head Gardener Woolson.

Louis Plans said that, according to hie vouchers, Supt. Woolson paid 12 cents apieces for golden rods. In Scott's Emulsion the cod-liver oil and hypophosphites are so combined as to get the full advantage of both. Let us send you a book on

"I suffered terribly from chronic gastric catarrh, which some people call indigastion, or dyspepsia, I couldn't eat anything. There was a terribly had smell came from my stornach. I doctored with one doctor for a year and he said it was no use, that my case was hopeless. Two years ago I went to Ductors McCloy and Wildman, and they worked with me week after week until they have cured me. I had ringing noises in my ears like loud hammering. I couldn't aleep. I had dull pains over my eyes. My nose was always stopped up, and I was always spitting up white matter. My breath was bad, and I got so bad that I lost eleven pounds in two days. Under Doctors McCloy and Wildman's care I got back the sieven pounds and niteen or twenty pounds besides. I fold like a different man. Now I can eat anything. The ringing in my ears is gone. Old. That was $4,500 in all. At that time Work told me about a contract to run until June 1, in which they needed $5,000. He advised me to relivest that sum.

"I told him I had no use for the $4,800, but I hadn't any more to spare. He offered to loan me $200 to make up the sum of $5,000 and I accepted it and put in the $5,000 for relivestment.

"The next day, however, I got a letter from Mr. Work, in which he said things were in a bad way. I went to his office and found that the Marine Bank had closed its doors and that Grant & Ward were about to assign, making Warner, Work and myself preferred creditors."

Answering his lawyer's questions, Col. James said that tetween March I, 1883, and May 5, 1884, he had paid to J. H. Work in checks, cash and drafts the sum of $134,450, which Work had collected as pronts accruing to Col. James from the investments. That made the total sum he paid to Work $404,003.75 from March I, 1883, to May 5, 1884.

Mr. Work paid him in checks, drafts and cash in that time $246,003.75, thus leaving a balance at the time of the last investment in May 1884, of $207,820.

Col. James said that a few days after the failure he and Work were talking matters over. Work saked him how he was fixed,
